

Engineering Services for OpenStack™ Cloud

What is Mirantis?

Mirantis is a services company that houses one of the largest groups of engineers for OpenStack™ Cloud. We help middleware vendors, computer infrastructure companies and Fortune 1000 enterprises extract value from OpenStack™.

What is OpenStack™?

OpenStack™ is the most popular and widely adopted open source platform for building private and public clouds. OpenStack™ is simple to implement, massively scalable and feature-rich. It is used by hundreds of companies, including AT&T, RackSpace, Cisco and HP.

How we can help!

Deployment

From two node, private cloud deployments to helping launch a public cloud service – we have done it all. The Mirantis team will work with you either onsite or remotely to help you get up and running with OpenStack™ Cloud in the shortest possible timeframe.

Training

Whether you are looking for a single day intro course or a week long advanced program – we can help. Mirantis has teamed with Silicon Valley Cloud Center to run a series of training courses for OpenStack™. Our classrooms are equipped with everything you need to get you started. Course schedules and registration is available at www.mirantis.com/training.

Development

Looking for ways to intelligently integrate your products with OpenStack™ or build custom solutions on top of it? Mirantis is an active contributor and member of the OpenStack™ open source community. Our architects can help ensure that your product / integration vision is complimentary to the OpenStack™ roadmap. We will work with you and the community to ensure your solution receives adequate visibility and gets accepted into the project trunk.

Support

OpenStack™ is one of the fastest evolving open source projects in history. Your cloud powered by OpenStack™ should evolve at the same pace. Mirantis offers a variety of support packages, extending beyond just 24/7 phone and email troubleshooting. Our job is to ensure you run on the latest stable version. We will continuously upgrade your infrastructure for you, with minimal disruption to existing workloads, backing our work with an SLA.
